THE TRANSIT OF VENUS.

The Weather Favorable at Many Points for Observations—Photographic Views and Measurements Made in Some States—Clouds at Some Places Cause Disappointment.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

Cincinnati, Dec. 6.—Clouds obscured the sun, causing great disappointment.

Boston, Dec. 6.—Notwithstanding clouds, the Harvard observatory made satisfactory observations of the first and second contacts of Venus.

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—The observer here took successful observations of the transit of Venus at [illegible] intervals.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Weather beautifully clear since daylight, giving local astronomers ample chance to observe the transit of Venus, which they are improving. Prof. Hough, of Dearborn observatory, has made [illegible] arrangements for a [illegible] observation. Smoked glasses are in the hands of all [illegible] citizens.

At 11 o'clock clouds began to overcast the sky and obscure the sun, causing disappointment to the observers of the transit of Venus. At 5 o'clock an inch of snow had fallen and the storm was general in Wisconsin, Iowa and Nebraska. At Dearborn observatory, 18 photographs were taken, the last one at 12:57.

St. Louis, Dec. 6.—Venus was only seen once in transit for about two minutes. Weather cloudy.

New York, Dec. 6.—The weather is clear and favorable for the satisfactory observation of the transit of Venus.

London, Dec. 6.—In consequence of unfavorable weather the transit of Venus was invisible from Greenwich observatory.

San Antonio, Dec. 6.—Skies beautifully clear. A brisk norther has dispelled the clouds, giving American and Belgian astronomical parties positive assurance of a fine day.

San Francisco, Dec. 6.—A dispatch from the Lick observatory, Mt. Hamilton, 9 A. M., says: Splendid clear day. Forty-eight photographs of the transit already obtained.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 6.—The day has been dark and rainy and the transit of Venus was not visible.

VIEWS AND MEASUREMENTS.

San Francisco, Dec. 6.—Prof. Davidson telegraphs from station Cerro Roblero, via Las Cruces, N. M.: The day opened beautifully clear. The sun was not [illegible] above the Organ mountains when the first internal contact was observed, much later than the predicted time. The atmosphere at this low altitude was very unsteady. The atmosphere of Venus was seen outside the sun's limb. The second contact, internal, was observed, the atmosphere growing steady. The altitude of the sun was four and a half degrees. Micrometer measurements were then made between the limb of the sun and Venus. These were satisfactory. During these measures the first group of six photograph plates were exposed and gave sharp outlines, exhibiting the planet very well defined. After the planet had advanced one diameter on the body of the sun, photograph plates were exposed in groups of six every eight minutes.

THESE PHOTOGRAPHS

Are remarkably fine and no single hitch occurred throughout the whole series while this work was being done. Micrometer measures of polar and equatorial diameter of Venus were made with a double image micrometer. Equatorial and transit instruments the meridian transit of the first limb of Venus and last limb of the sun were observed; photograph groups were finished about 20 minutes before the third contact, and give 216 splendid pictures. When micrometer measures were made between the limb of the planet and of the sun the third contact internal was observed with great precision, the limbs of Venus and the sun being remarkably sharp and well defined. After this contact, that part of the planet's disc beyond the sun's border was partly surrounded by a white circle of light during the last contact, which also was observed with great precision. The whole work has been an eminent success, and not a single item has been missed in the programme of the day's operations.

ON THE SUMMIT OF THE ROCKIES.

Omaha, Dec. 6.—James Blickensdorfer, chief engineer of the Union Pacific, took observations of the transit of Venus at Sherman, Wyoming, the highest point on the Union Pacific in the Rocky mountains. A telegram received here says that at sunrise the heavens were cloudy, but that shortly afterwards the clouds were in a measure dispelled and Venus was distinctly seen upon the disc of the sun. It was anticipated by Mr. Blickensdorfer that the weather would be favorable for the last points of contact. The first points were not visible owing to clouds. He was well provided with a complete set of instruments. It is now believed here that he is the only man on the American continent who succeeded in observing the transit, and as he is considerable of an astronomer, his report will no doubt be of great interest. It was cloudy all day in Nebraska.

BODY SNATCHERS.

The Despoilers of the Graves in Lebanon Cemetery Narrowly Escape Lynching.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

Philadelphia, Dec. 6.—Long before the hour set for the hearing in the case of the grave robbers arrested last night crowds of colored people flocked about Seventh street. Lebanon cemetery was a favorite burying ground for colored people. Plots to lynch the prisoners were discussed, but they were rushed through a crowded hallway to the back room before the people realized what was going on. They then vented their disappointment in jeers and yells. At the examination the colored element was strongest. Two keys found on McNamee fitted doors in the room where bodies were prepared for dissection at Jefferson college. McNamee denied any knowledge of who gave them to him, but finally said he waited outside the cemetery while others brought the bodies out, and he knew where they came from. Robt. Chew, when arrested at the cemetery, said he was paid $3 for every body taken from the cemetery. The money was handed him by his brother. He did not know how many graves had been robbed. Sometimes Pillot did the digging and sometimes Levy. He had been in the cemetery eleven years. Body snatching has been going on for nine years. His brother-in-law Solomon Butcher, now in Maryland, did it first, then a man named Meyers, then McNamee. Sometimes the wagon came and the driver said they were short. Coffins were opened in the receiving vault and the corpse snatched, and the farce of burying an empty coffin gone through next day. The record of burial at the cemetery showed in two months 35 bodies in one grave. This statement created a sensation. Defendants were committed in default of $5000 bail for further hearing Friday. As soon as the crowd outside the magistrate's office learned the examination was over an overwhelming rush was made for the entry and gateway, with threats to lynch the prisoners. A sergeant and ten men of reserves were sent for the "snatchers." When brought out the crowd made another rush, and men and women struck at the prisoners, who cowered before them. Policemen drew their clubs and went on a trot to the central station, where the prisoners were locked up for the night.

POLITICAL.

Ladies' Method of Electioneering.

Annapolis, Dec. 6.—The vote on the question of local option in Anne Arundel county has excited extraordinary interest in this city. The contest is one of the most [illegible] ever witnessed. The polling places and streets are filled with ladies vigorously electioneering in behalf of the temperance ticket, many of them holding tickets. An organized band of ladies is going from poll to poll, singing "Hold the Fort," etc. Application was made to the mayor to have them removed from the polls, it being alleged they were interfering with the election. The mayor refused to have them removed, and ordered policemen to arrest any person who should swear in the presence of the ladies or otherwise treat them with disrespect. It is expected the ladies will be triumphant.

Ohio Congressmen.

Columbus, Dec. 6.—The state canvassing board in the Wallace-McKinley contest in the 18th congressional district, [illegible] McKinley [illegible] by 8 majority and issued a certificate of election accordingly. In the 7th district Morey was declared elected, and in the 12th [illegible]. No others were contested.

WASHINGTON.

A Minority Report of the Nicaragua Canal Committee to be Presented.

NORTHERN PACIFIC LAND GOSSIP.

The Republican Party's "Steering" Committee [illegible]—A Mild Test Concerning American Shipping, Etc.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

New York, Dec. 6.—The [illegible] Washington [illegible] says: [illegible] will present a minority report upon the bill to incorporate the Nicaragua canal [illegible]. There are many reasons, in his opinion, why congress should not guarantee 3 per cent on [illegible] the amount of bonds which the company asks as a basis for beginning operations. [illegible] the projectors [illegible] canal, [illegible] route by which from New York to San Francisco, [illegible] that the Panama canal is already being built, [illegible] at Nicaragua would [illegible]. The strong point made in the [illegible] report that [illegible] the United States would appear as [illegible] the projectors of the [illegible] company, is answered by Blount by the statement that the canal could be controlled effectively by its stockholders. There is nothing to hinder citizens of any country from buying a majority of all the stock when placed upon the market, and investors would look to their own governments for protection of their interests and capital, and such guardianship would naturally be created. It then would make no difference what government would guarantee in the beginning the interest of bonds, that government would control the canal whose citizens had the largest amount of capital invested in its stock. Blount also finds some technical objections to the consideration of provisions of the bill.

Northern Pacific Land Grant.

As soon as Proctor Knott returns a bill declaring the land grant of the Northern Pacific railroad forfeited, it will be prepared and reported from the judiciary committee. As it now stands this committee is divided, seven to eight on the question of forfeiture, in favor of the road. It is not certain, however, that it will remain in this shape, because Judge Converse of Ohio, who forms one of the majority, has recently said that upon the legal proposition he believes the position of the minority is correct, and that according to law the road has forfeited its right to the grant. He stands only upon the question of policy in the matter. Should he decide what he thinks to be the correct law of the case is also just [illegible] he will join the minority of the committee, which will then stand 8 to 7 against the claim of the road. At any rate, the minority of the committee will bring forward a bill, which will be placed on the calendar. Judge Payson, who has taken the lead in the movement, is of the opinion if the house is so divided on the question that he can secure two-thirds to suspend rules and pass the bill forfeiting the rights of the Northern Pacific road to an immense tract of valuable land which it now holds.

The committee meets Friday to talk over the question of forfeiture of the 1,000,000 acres granted to the New Orleans and Vicksburg road and now claimed by the New Orleans and Pacific. There seems to be little doubt that a majority of the committee will favor forfeiture in this case at any rate.

Report of the Utah Commission.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The Utah commission in their report to the secretary of the interior recommended that a marriage law be enacted by congress which would form an auxiliary in the suppression of polygamy. The commission say that owing to the peculiar state of affairs in the territorial law allowing women the right of suffrage is an obstruction to the speedy solution of the question and should be repealed or annulled by congress. The commission say the law so far has been a decided success in excluding polygamists from the exercise of suffrage. Continued enforcement of the law will place polygamy in a condition of gradual extinction. The commission [illegible] of the liberal meetings have been largely attended by Mormons. In conclusion the report says, after counselling moderation, if, however, the next session of the legislative assembly [illegible] the act of congress, shall fail to respond to the will of the nation, congress should have no hesitation in using extraordinary measures to compel the people of this territory to obey the laws of the land.

A "Steering" Committee.

An interesting [illegible] is told about the "steering" committee of the house. Robeson became chairman of the caucus by agreement, and on motion of Hiscock, appointed a committee to work out a policy of the republican party for the session. Early last session Robeson appointed the following: Robeson of New Jersey, Butterworth of Ohio, Kasson of Iowa, Hubbell of Michigan, Cannon of Illinois, Anderson of Kansas, Reed of Maine, Shallenberger of Pennsylvania, and Page of California. Little was heard of this committee, and things ran along smoothly until the committees [illegible] various bills, [illegible] of which had staunch advocates in the house. Various caucuses followed. [illegible] at which the stormy discussion arose and a conclusion was reached by which the [illegible] of ways and means [illegible] bound not to interfere nor on the floor of the house. A revenue policy having been concluded upon, another caucus was called to consider a course of business, which was brought about by [illegible] for precedence among a number of members who had introduced measures they wanted to pass. Troubles multiplied as interests continued to clash, and this second committee, or "steering" committee, was announced as follows: Hiscock, Burrows, Robinson of Massachusetts, McKinley, Bingham, [illegible] and Robeson. To all intents and purposes, this committee was exactly like the other, except that [illegible] of the first. It was in no sense a representative committee of the house but of Mr. Robeson, who, by this means was given practical direction of the business. It contained two members of the appropriations committee, out of seven, instead of three out of nine, as in the first case. The majority of the committees were formed with a view to letting the tariff alone. So the house last session directed that tariff legislation was impossible and everything must bend to Robeson's will. A caucus will be held soon and the committee be recast to more appropriately represent the geographical divisions of the union.

American Shipping Laws.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Senator Miller introduced in the senate yesterday bills relative to the repeal of shipping interests, recommended by the board of trade of San Francisco. These bills were introduced in the house on Monday by Page and Rosecrans.

The house yesterday passed a bill relating to American shipping laws, which is similar in its provisions to one of the bills recommended by the San Francisco board of trade and introduced by the California members. It provides for such a modification of the shipping laws as will relieve ship owners from paying extra three months' wages to American seamen discharged in a foreign port, and makes provision instead for their return to this country without payment of any wages.

San Francisco Postoffice.

[illegible] Rosecrans is urging the committee on public buildings to report his bill for a postoffice at San Francisco, but as yet without success. Mr. Shallenberger, chairman of the committee, says the trouble about securing a report on this bill is that the committee, in conference with the secretary of the treasury, have determined that in every case where it is agreed that a public building shall be erected a committee of disinterested citizens shall be appointed to select a site, but [illegible] Rosecrans [illegible] on the passage of the bill with this provision.

Chinese Laborers.

The necessity of making some provision by law to permit Chinese laborers coming from one country to another to pass through the United States, as [illegible] the president's message, was considered at the cabinet meeting yesterday, and it was decided that the secretary of the treasury will draw up [illegible] the requisite provisions for presentation to congress.

Retired Army Officers.

The bill introduced last session in the senate [illegible] of Washington territory to permit army officers on the retired list to hold civil offices in the territories, which was reported favorably from committee on military affairs, was reached on the calendar yesterday, but the house refused to consider it at that time.

Candidates for Speaker.

When Randall entered he was much pleased with the universal salutation of members of the house: "Good morning, Mr. Speaker." He smiled blandly and bowed profusely. Carlisle and Springer, too, had their following and the canvass for the speakership may be said to have already begun.

Nicaragua Canal Bill.

It is now understood that Representatives Blount and Belmont, of foreign affairs committee, who were to have signed a minority report on the Nicaragua canal bill, have disagreed as to some important points, and that each will make a report on his own account next week.

Report Approved.

The president has approved the report of the government commissioners accepting the newly completed section of the Northern Pacific road, comprising 101 miles in Montana territory and including the bridge across the Missouri.

Indian Fight.

The Indian office has a report from Fort Custer that twenty Indians, probably Piegans, raided Crow scouts near Little Big Horn and carried off 400 ponies. The Crows pursued, recovered their stock and killed two of the thieves.

New Mexico Legislature.

Gov. Sheldon, of New Mexico, is in the city to secure the passage by congress of an act legalizing the present biennial session of the legislature of that territory, and to insure future biennial sessions.

Dakota's Admission.

The bill for the admission of Dakota as a state, will not be pressed as hard as that for a division of the territory. The latter will be very much urged on the attention of congress.

Butler Entertained by the President.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The president entertained Governor-elect Ben Butler at dinner at the Soldiers' Home last night.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

Rumors in Diplomatic Circles—A Cable to be Laid between Shanghai and Hongkong—Russian Invasion Apprehended—Death from Cholera—Violent Storms, etc., etc.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

San Francisco, Dec. 6.—The steamship Gaelic, from Hongkong via Yokohama, brings the following:

Hongkong, Nov. 8.

It is reported in diplomatic circles in Peking that a considerable party in the Chinese government, elated by the success of recent movements in Corea, propose urging the resumption of active suzerainty over Anam and Tonquin. Formal protests on this subject have been presented to Tsung Li Yamen by certain western envoys. It is generally believed, however, a majority of the government will oppose the proposition, at least so far as Siam is concerned.

Prince Kung is reported dangerously ill with Bright's disease.

The desire of Chinese authorities for American intervention in the question of the Loo Choo islands is strongly expressed. If not the good offices at Washington then certain United States officials in the east may be requested to arbitrate. Li Hung Chang has suggested Bingham, U. S. envoy to Japan. Japan however [illegible] arbitration will be agreeable to the former.

Still another reverential letter from the king of Corea to the Chinese emperor is published in the Peking Gazette. These proceedings have appeared worthy of attention by foreign diplomatists, some of whom propose asking Tsung Li Yamen if the emperor intends to claim and exercise the privilege of ratifying or rejecting treaties negotiated by Corea.

Foreign speculators in Shanghai contemplate laying a cable between that port and Hongkong.

There are continuous riots in the city of Wu Chang, owing to a deadly feud between the military and civil officials. A large part of the population have deserted the city.

Quarantine on vessels from Manila was suspended November 3 at Amoy, but still continues at other places on the China coast. Hongkong awaits further advices as to the cholera at Manila.

Several executions of Chinese soldiers are reported from Corea. The offense in most cases was ill treatment of natives. One officer was beheaded for stealing.

The Chinese authorities are [illegible] defensive armaments on a large scale. [illegible] Troops are marched toward the [illegible] frontier, and every indication [illegible].

[illegible] excitement has been created in Shanghai by the endeavors of the Chinese officials to seize native criminals in the foreign settlement. U. S. Vice Consul General Cheshire refused in one instance to sign a warrant for arrest. His action is supported by the united diplomatic corps at Peking.

Capt. Field of the American ship Mary L. Stone, and Capt. Swap of the American ship Hesperus, died of cholera at Manila in October.

There has been violent storms in China since October 20th. The greatest damage was done on the island of Luzon. Several villages are destroyed. Manila and suburbs are in partial ruins, twelve to twenty large ships aground.

Yokohama, Nov. 19.—The Corean delegation resolved to persuade their government, if possible, to authorize the embassy to travel through America and Europe seeking knowledge and establishing diplomatic relations.

Mr. Kapena, envoy from Hawaii, has arrived in Japan, and is entertained with extreme hospitality. The envoy comes to persuade the authorities to sanction the exportation of Japanese coolie laborers to the Sandwich Islands. It is not supposed he can succeed, although the influence of a strong political combination has been secured in his behalf.

The unconcealed desire of members of the government to regain Simonoseki indemnity money occasions some remark. It is currently reported Mr. R. Irwin, understood to be confidential agent of the Japanese foreign minister, will presently visit Washington to assist in an attempt to secure immediate restoration of the fund.

Public opinion has declared itself strongly against the projected new steamship combination of Japan. The government seems, nevertheless, determined to carry it through.

The United States Consulate at Morocco Burglarized.

ARABI'S PLANS FOR HIS EXILE.

Statement of Austrian Finances—Egyptian Revenues—The Loss by Floods in Germany—Search for Arctic Explorers.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

Gibraltar, Dec. 6.—Private advices received at the naval academy give the particulars of an extensive robbery perpetrated recently at the U. S. consulate of Morocco at Tangiers. There are no banks in Tangiers, and it was the consulate [illegible] that many persons deposited valuables there. The consulate was broken into, and the contents of safe of office, together with other articles of great value, jewelry, plate, medals, etc., carried off, besides cabinets in the drawing room containing a very valuable collection of gold and silver coins [illegible]. The collection is a splendid one, the result of the labors of thirty years [illegible]. Several arrests have been made. One young Moor, named El Arbi, made a confession and [illegible] a number of bracelets [illegible] for the purpose. It is believed most of the plunder found its way to the melting pot.

Arabi Consoles Himself.

London, Dec. 6.—Arabi Pasha writes he would prefer to live in Damascus, or if that is impossible, in London. He expresses contentment with his lot, because he knows his misfortune has been the means of securing for the country he loves the liberty and prosperity it deserves. He feels confident that when England carries out her good work she will permit him to return. She will soon learn he was no rebel, when he set himself at the head of a people who wanted nothing but justice.

Austrian Finances.

Vienna, Dec. 6.—The Reichsrath reassembled. Dr. Dunajewski, minister of finance, submitted the budget for 1883, showing a deficit of 31,000,000 florins. Taxes during first nine months in 1882 yielded an increase of 8,000,000 florins compared with the same period in 1881. The condition of the treasury are extremely favorable. The government will be able to pay off uncovered credits in the amount of 14,500,000 florins. It is probable that a considerable portion of the deficit in 1883 can be met by cash in hand from the current year.

In Search of Arctic Explorers.

London, Dec. 6.—Larream, who accompanied the Jeannette expedition, has been engaged to go to Nova Zembla Island in search of the Danish exploring vessel Dijmphna. The governments of Denmark and Holland propose an expedition, with the object of assisting the Dutch exploring vessels Varna and Dijmphna.

The Madagascar Question.

Paris, Dec. 6.—Admiral Pierre has been ordered to Madagascar. The Liberte states the president of the council and the English ambassador had a conference on the Malagasy question. England is disposed to recognize the rights accorded to France by the latter's treaty of 1868 with Madagascar.

Speculators on Trial.

The trial of Bontoux, president, and Feder, manager, of the Union Generale, suspended January last, has begun. Bontoux says he was absent when the company speculated in its own shares. Feder said if the issue of 100,000 new shares had been stopped by the downfall of the company, and if speculators who bought shares had paid for them, there would have been no deficit in the company's treasury. The official liquidator of the Union Generale estimated if the legal decision [illegible] was maintained the shareholders would recover 50 per cent.

Retrenchment Insisted on.

Paris, Dec. 6.—The chamber of deputies adopted the estimates of the minister of commerce. During the debate the minister of finance declared the government felt it was time to stop the incessant increase of expenditure, and [illegible] to jeopardize the finances of the country.

The Egyptian Revenues.

Paris, Dec. 6.—England and France [illegible] the permanent presidency of the debt commission, which body in future will have the management of the daira domains. Should a French president be appointed the management of Egyptian revenues would become exclusively entrusted to France.

Disastrous Floods.

Berlin, Dec. 6.—The king of Bavaria has given 150,000 marks to assist people destitute by the flood. The loss by the flood in the Rhenish districts amount to millions of marks [illegible]. [illegible] alone amounts to a million marks, sixty houses near Mayence swept away.

Bismarck and the Emperor.

Berlin, Dec. 6.—The parliamentary situation and the Egyptian question were subjects of discussion in the interview yesterday of Bismarck with the emperor. The emperor expressed satisfaction with Bismarck's policy. Degiers, Russian foreign minister, will make another visit to Varzin.

Polish Bishops.

Rome, Dec. 6.—Degiers to-day had another private audience with the pope. The interview resulted in the satisfactory settlement basis for arrangement of questions at issue between Russia and the Vatican, especially those relating to the bishoprics of Poland.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

Heavy Losses of Bank Paper.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—President Wood, of the First National bank of Denver, has written two more letters to Chicago bankers in regard to losses of bank paper by mail. He says the losses must occur in the east, as this paper, only, had been sent through pouches to New York and New England; that within the past year [illegible] has lost paper of the value of half a million, and banks in Colorado a million and a half. He says he tried the policy of silence for a year, in hopes the postoffice department would do something to cure the evil. Failing in this he determined to try the policy of publicity.

Gambling Houses Raided.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—The police made a raid on the gambling houses last night. Up to midnight five places had been raided, including that of McDonald, known here as the "boss" gambler, a prominent figure in local politics. He has heretofore escaped all raids, and been [illegible] by other gambling house keepers for protection against raids. A large number of inmates were arrested and gambling implements confiscated.

House.

Willis, of Kentucky, offered a resolution like that offered in the senate yesterday on civil service reform. Referred.

The motion of Kelley was referred asking the secretary of war what objects were referred to by the president as needing additional appropriation this session in the river and harbor bill.

Caldwell offered a resolution that the committee on appropriations may report a clause for two cent letter postage.

House considered the president's message and went into committee of the whole on the state of the union.

Steele, of Indiana, offered a resolution directing the committee on civil service reform to inquire how much money was collected by the campaign tax makers of the democratic party from the Cobden club and from the Free Trade clubs, used in the elections of 1882. "Let it be adopted," cried several democrats, but Kasson objected to its present consideration for the same reason which prompted him to object to Willis' resolution, [illegible] work before it [illegible].

Townshend, of Illinois, called attention to the fact that the objection came from the republican side; resolution referred.

Kasson presented the views of the minority of the committee on ways and means on the internal revenue bill; ordered printed. The minority report was signed by Kasson, Dunnell, McKinley, Haskell, Morrison and Russell. They say they are not prepared to recommend the entire abolition of the tax, nor run the risk of reducing the revenue of the government below the amounts which will evidently be required to meet arrearages of pensions in addition to other current expenses of the government by extravagant reduction of either source of public revenues. It would be a more agreeable duty, and can be more feasible to reduce taxes from time to time, as the unknown extent of our revenue shall be developed than to reimpose them to meet the imperative obligations of the government. For the reduction which it now appears safe to make, we believe it should be effected rather by the abolition of taxes more closely related to the use and convenience of our people. Dunnell and Haskell file a supplemental minority report, in which they favor the abolition of all internal revenue taxes except those on malt and spirituous liquors, tobacco, snuff and cigars. If it becomes apparent the government does not require the entire amount derived from liquors and tobacco, the proposition for reducing the tax may be favorably considered. They believe, however, before this tax is abolished there should be a comprehensive revision of the tariff made; that revision should be made entirely independent of other sources of revenue, and there should be such adjustment of duties levied as will fairly protect American industries from ruinous foreign competition. THURSDAY MORNING, DEC. 7, 1882.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

Many good reasons may be produced to show why the telegraph and postal systems of the country should be under one management. If we had a proper civil service none whatever could be produced against it. So great a power can be adequately wielded only by the government, and there is no reason for control of the postoffice by the government which will not apply also to control of the telegraph, provided only that our civil service system were first reformed as it should be, and then kept out of the hands of politicians. But all the arguments of the postmaster general for the postal telegraph, excellent as they are in themselves, come to naught before the one shameful fact that our civil service is the worst in the world, and that, until we discard the political spoils system and adopt the methods of civilized administration, there ought to be no further extension of the sphere of government action.

In the telegraph service vigilance, fidelity and skill are required to a far greater extent than in the postal department. Upon such a service the iniquities of our political system would therefore operate with worst effect. There is fair assurance of secrecy in the mails; but with the telegraph in every state under supervision of the "henchmen" of the "boss," the chance for inviolability would be small indeed. Again, appointments in the telegraph service, controlled under the spoils system, would be very likely to present conspicuous instances of incapacity. The boss politician would serve his followers and pay his political debts by putting men into the telegraph service as he now does into the postal service; and his power would be vastly increased by the addition of so large a number to the list of those who, how much soever they might dislike the servitude, would be compelled to accept it or be debarred from positions. But there is another possible view of the subject. Were the telegraph added to the postal department the abuses to which our spoils system naturally leads might become so flagrant that the people would resolve to reform it altogether. The only hope would be that abuses tolerated in other branches of the service would be found unendurable in the postal telegraph system, and thus lead up to reform in all departments.

A well managed postal telegraph would be an important auxiliary of journalism. If not well managed it would be only an obstruction and a nuisance. Transmission of heavy masses of news reports requires skill, attention and hard work. It is drudgery in fact, and such a situation would therefore be a very different thing from a clerkship in any other department of the public service. The demands upon the telegraph for the transmission of press reports are so great that the principal lines must always be worked all night. Government is not proverbially enterprising in its operations, and there is probability that the press and the public would have reason to complain of its slow movements and niggardly management. Perhaps, however, it might carry news reports at lower rates than journals are now obliged to pay. Yet even this may be doubted, since distance and quantity would regulate the charge; and at a low rate per word the telegraphic matter which appears in a newspaper like THE OREGONIAN, to say nothing of much greater ones, would amount to a large sum.

It is said by some that the postal telegraph system would destroy the news monopoly which certain newspapers maintain, and therefore would be a great advantage to other newspapers and consequently to the public. On this point there is much liability to mistake, arising from want of full knowledge of the subject. In no sense have associated press journals any monopoly of news; in no way have they a single privilege or advantage. The associated press is a partnership for collection of news. It has its agents in all parts of the country. The expense of collecting the news it meets by payments from all the members of the partnership. Each journal sends the news of its own locality to all other journals of the association. It should be needless to say that the news collected by this association through its own agents and at its own expense is its own property. Government cannot take that property away from its owners. Nor is government going into the field as a collector of and dealer in news. If it goes into the telegraph business it will simply carry messages and press reports for all who have such matter to be carried, and will make the same rates to all. The associated press will use the postal telegraph for the transmission of its reports, and will get as good terms as any other individual or association. Consequently the present conditions as to press reports will not be materially changed by the postal telegraph. The change might, however, bring a great advantage to the members of the associated press. Should the charges for transmitting their reports be materially reduced, they could and would spend the money thus saved in increasing the extent and improving the quality of their service. Thus a positive advantage would enure, from the postal telegraph system, to newspapers already established, through reduction of telegraphic rates and extension of telegraphic service to all or nearly all points where postoffices are maintained.

The postal telegraph system is right in itself, and it ought to be established just so soon as proper methods in the management of our civil service can be substituted for the spoils system. But there is good reason to object to the addition of so great a multitude of persons as the telegraph service requires to the now existing army of government employes, until the country shall have rid itself of the incumbrance of machine politics.

SORGHUM SUGAR.

The story of the great success of the sorghum-sugar project is repeated in Illinois. It is asserted that Profs. Scoville and Weber of the Illinois state industrial university have discovered processes of crystallization by which sorghum syrup is converted into sugar at a cheap and rapid rate. A company has been employing these processes in a small way this year. The product of 250 acres has been worked, and the result is 250,000 pounds of sugar and 22,500 gallons of molasses, having a value of about $29,000. It is claimed that the manufacture has now passed the experimental phase and that sorghum will be largely planted. It can be planted over as wide an area as corn, and can be raised on the same kind of soil, with no greater charge of cultivation. It is believed by those who have examined the matter that the discovery of the process of crystallizing sugar from the syrup of sorghum will revolutionize the sugar trade of the United States, if not of the world.

Thompson's river, now reached by the Northern Pacific railroad, is a small stream entering Clark's fork on the north side and is just about 100 miles from Missoula. There is a good deal of heavy rock work for several miles beyond Thompson's river, which will cause slow progress for several weeks. But most of the grading is completed on the entire line to Missoula, and indeed all the way through; and only the rock work and bridges will cause detention.

It is asserted that the Standard Oil company made from $30,000,000 to $30,000,000 out of the recent "boom" in petroleum. The game was to force all up to $2 a barrel. It failed; but had it succeeded the company would have "cleaned up" not less than $70,000,000.

The steel rail mills are shut down and the workmen who are thrown out of employment are asking where the protection comes in that gives them an advantage over the "pauper labor" of Europe.

MANUFACTURES.

Census bulletin No. [illegible], containing statistics of manufactures in 1880, in the various states and territories has been issued. From it we take the following figures concerning Pacific coast industries: California has 5885 establishments; capital, $61,243,784; hands employed, 43,809; wages paid, $21,670,855; value of materials, $72,637,703; product, $116,227,973. Oregon has 1075 establishments; capital, $6,281,256; hands employed, 3121; wages paid, $1,036,566; value of materials, [illegible]; product, $10,878,092. Washington has 261 establishments; capital, $3,202,497; hands employed, 1147; wages paid, $732,226; value of materials, $1,967,469; product, $3,250,134. Oregon ranks 31th in number of establishments, 32d in capital, 34th in hands employed, and 35th in product. These figures are for 1880, however, and form no just criterion of our standing now, as our state's growth in this respect during the past two years has been remarkably rapid. The capital employed in manufacturing in Portland and vicinity alone is larger than that employed in 1880 in the whole state. The rare facilities for manufacturing possessed by Portland and by the twin states of the northwest, Oregon and Washington, are being rapidly taken advantage of and will certainly place them many points higher in the list of 1890 than two years ago.

The great Colorado "boom" is on the wane. Correspondence from that state takes an unfavorable view of the situation and declares that business and mining are actually decreasing. Leadville has fallen off in population several thousand in the past two years, and the removal of the immense plant of Grant's smelting works from there to Denver has still further reduced the population. Many of the mines are flat failures, while newer and more promising districts in Idaho and Montana are attracting the floating crowds who have failed to acquire the expected fortune in the carbonates of California gulch. The growth of Denver has been at a reduced rate during the past year, and it is evident that the growth of the entire state must hereafter depend upon the scanty favors nature has bestowed upon her in the form of agricultural and grazing lands. Another "boom" in mining will hardly occur.

Those indefatigable prompters of attacks in congress on the Northern Pacific land grant—the monopolists of the completed transcontinental roads—are already at work again. A final effort is now to be made to declare the grant forfeited, in the hope of delaying thereby for a year or two more the completion of the road. People of the Pacific coast, so long in bondage to the old monopoly, have not forgotten that the Union and Central Pacific roads had a land grant equal to that of the Northern Pacific, and nearly a hundred million dollars in government bonds besides, not even the interest on which has been paid. The great northwest wants the Northern Pacific railroad.

The transit of Venus was not observable in Portland yesterday owing to cloudy weather, but our dispatches indicate that science will not suffer thereby, if local astronomers did. Forty-eight valuable photographs were obtained at Lick observatory in California, and a beautiful day in Chicago and other eastern cities was taken advantage of in a like manner.

Mr. Edward A. Freeman, the English historical writer, is giving his impressions of America, which he recently visited, through the Fortnightly Review. In his first article he says he was surprised to find that the United States did not seem to be a foreign country; it was simply England with a difference; and the difference was less than between England and Scotland.

A new vortex of speculation—one of the eddies of the big lake scheme—in a locality a little distance from the Central school block, has been observable during the last three days. In fact local whirlpools of speculation, some started by one thing and some by another, are to be noted all over the city.

The governor of Louisiana has given Wm. Pitt Kellogg a certificate of election at last. The fact that Kellogg had 2000 majority after two strong republican counties had been thrown out, was too much for even a Louisiana "certifier" to overlook.

The Atlanta Constitution has figured up the electoral vote for 1884, and finds that the democrats can afford to loose all their recent gains except New York. If that state and Virginia are democratic, the next president, it says, will be a democrat.

Congressman Page of California takes too gloomy a view of the situation when he says the republican party in his state is dead. The gentleman from the bay district evidently confounds that party with himself.

Are THE OREGONIAN's suggestions about the hotel bearing fruit? There is a movement that looks like it. But whether so or not, the movement is noticeable, and is a proper matter for congratulation.

In New York, under a new law, they bring criminal prosecution against the person who attempts suicide. The only safe thing for the would-be suicide is to make sure work of it.

The democrats have had no policy for twenty years except to antagonize their opponents. Is this likely to be a surer platform for the future than it has been for the past?

Lost His Finger and Arm.—News was brought to the city yesterday of an accident that occurred last Saturday at the end of the track on the N. P. R. R. works. He was brought down to the hospital, and is doing well.

Our Staple.—Messrs. Allen & Lewis are shipping 2500 tons of valley wheat to San Francisco by the O. R. & N. Co.'s steamships to load a vessel there. The first installment went down by the Queen, and it is expected the shipment will be completed in three steamers. This is the way our wheat used to be shipped years ago, but it seems strange to see the fashion revived.

Articles Filed.—The Nehalem Lumbering Company filed articles of incorporation in the office of the county clerk yesterday. Capital stock $50,000, divided into 100 shares of $500 each. Principal place of business is the city of Portland. The incorporators are George Hughes, Henry Robert and J. L. Barnard.

A handsome Silsby steam fire engine for the Salem department came up for the State. It is named Tiger No. 2. The boys will have a gay time housing it.

MULTNOMAH RAILWAY.

Stipulations made in regard to the Running of Cars through Albina and the Right of Way therefor Granted.

Yesterday in the county court further consideration was taken of the application of the Multnomah railway company for right of way through Albina, and the company filed the following additional stipulations, to which they were willing to agree:

"1. That said company shall have the right to run dummy engines, such as are commonly used in eastern cities and their suburbs on street railways on streets, and shall not have the right, in operating said railway, to use or run locomotives or engines of any other or larger class.

"2. That said company in operating its said railway shall not run cars or dummy engines through the said town of Albina at a greater rate of speed than six miles an hour.

"3. That said company shall make its track conform with the grade of the said town of Albina as the same now are, or as the same may hereafter be established, provided only that said grade is such as to make the operating of said railway thereon practicable.

"4. That said company shall build its said railway through the said town of Albina within one year from the date hereof."

The above modifications were accepted by the court, which then renewed its previous order granting the right of way. And now public interest turns to the ferry war which is still being waged.

THE SAGO CASE.

Detailed Account of the Difference Between Tapioca and Sago Given by Hon. Rufus Mallory.

Hearing was continued yesterday in the U. S. circuit court before Judge Deady and the jury of the testimony in the celebrated sago flour case. Hon. Rufus W. Mallory occupied the witness stand and gave a very minute and interesting statement of his investigations in relation to that commodity in his trip to China.

Among other things he described a plantation at Singapore, China, where the sago palm was raised, and gave a detailed account of the production and manufacture of the article known as the sago flour. The sago palm is a tree which grows at a height of twenty to thirty feet, and it takes fifteen years from the planting before the tree is ready for harvest. These trees are very swampy so that the a person cannot walk about them except on planks laid to keep the feet. They grow to eighteen or twenty inches in diameter, and are cut down close to the ground. The main body of the tree, after the bark is removed, consists of a soft wet pith, which is taken by the Chinese and broken into small fragments and ground up. The product passed through a hopper lined with coarse cloth and washed with water, the Chinaman working over the mass of pulp in the operation. The fine granules are carried over into large vats where the flour or starch settles to the bottom and the water is gradually drawn off. This starch is then dried and ground into the article known as sago flour. Mr. Mallory had samples of the tree, the pith, the flour, etc., which were exhibited to the jury.

He then described another plantation of 200 acres where 40 hands were employed in the manufacture of tapioca and tapioca starch. The commodity comes from a plant rather than a tree, which a batch of two is [illegible] for harvest in two years. The plant is then ten to twelve feet high. The tapioca is obtained from the roots of the plant. The great plants are [illegible] very fine [illegible] potato, which are pulled, and then the roots are carefully gathered, and any remaining roots in the ground dug out. The roots are placed in a machine which removes the skin and washes them perfectly white and clean. The process of grinding up and drawing off is according similar to that of sago flour, and that makes starch. An additional operation makes it into the commercial tapioca. This plantation has an extended machinery and steam power. Mr. Mallory was told of plantations of this industry that had contracts. The case still continues to-day in the court.

THE HOTEL AGAIN.

PORTLAND, Dec. 6.

To the Editor:

"Talk is cheap, but it takes money to buy land," especially in Portland at this time. "I. D.," in this morning's Oregonian, gives his views in regard to a hotel, and the location of it. Newspaper articles will not build hotels, but the agitation may help the matter along. There are plenty of two-bit houses, such as "I. D." seems to think we need, in the city now. What Portland needs is a hotel which will charge from three to five dollars per day, and give accommodations to correspond. "I. D." says: "Until the city becomes much larger it would not be wise to force such an institution (that is, a good hotel) on the people." It is not the people in this city, or in any city who support hotels. It is the traveling public; and no commercial city of its size in the United States is the center of so much travel as Portland. We now have two steamers a week, crowded with passengers, many of them tourists, pleasure seekers, and capitalists looking for investments, etc., etc. The most of these are people who have plenty of money to spend and do not wish to put up at second-class houses. If "I. D." has ever come in contact with any of them, and heard them express their surprise that a city so rich as Portland and doing so much business, should be without a first-class hotel, then he would think that one is needed and would pay. I have known those who came here, intending to make this their home and to invest in property or manufacturing enterprises, to be driven away by their inability to get decent hotel accommodations. It would be at least a year before a large hotel could be built and put in operation, and by that time the railroad will be completed and will probably it then come where one comes now. Are we prepared for such an influx? Decidedly not. Our people need to wake up to an appreciation of the changes that the next year will make in this city. Our rich men, especially, do not seem to be equal to the occasion. We have half a dozen, each one of whom could build and equip a hotel, such as is proposed, and not feel the expenditure. It is a sad commentary upon the enterprise of our city and especially of our wealthy citizens, that a project of this kind should hang fire so long as this one has, and that it should be such an effort to raise the comparatively small amount of money necessary to carry it through. In regard to the location, there may be other blocks as suitable as the Central school block, but I very much doubt if one of them could be bought for one-third of the amount asked for the school block. If "I. D." has such a block for sale, I have no doubt he can find a purchaser by calling on those who have the hotel project in charge. The question of locality and the jealousies growing out of it have done very much in the past to retard the progress of Portland. It is to be hoped that with the new era, now dawning, this prejudice may be dissipated and that all portions of the city may work together. If we do not, there is little hope of the city's future.

A STRANGER SPEAKS.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

I am a stranger in this section and would be obliged if you would allow me space in your journal for a few remarks concerning the roads in the vicinity of Portland. Having read of the beautiful drive out to the White House, I determined to enjoy it. I have to say, in reference to the road from the city to a brick yard some distance out, that I believe it to be the very worst in the whole United States, with the single exception of another of the principal approaches to your thriving city, viz. the road to Lone Fir cemetery. For a city where property is so valuable as in Portland, it is a great shame that the principal avenues leading from it should be in such a disgraceful condition. I am informed that it is owing to a misunderstanding between the city and county authorities, each claiming that it is the duty of the other to attend to this matter. If these officials were at all the kind of men they should be they would soon compromise matters and have these roads repaired, as they are certainly a great disgrace to the city and county both.

THE GOLDEN ENTERPRISE MINE.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

CENTERVILLE, Lewis Co., W. T., Dec. 6.—The Golden Enterprise company will have timbers enough this week ready for 100 feet of tunnel. DR. PAUL M. BRENAN,

THE

Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of

ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Vitality. Nearly two-thirds of all the chronic diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Office No. ... Third st., opposite ... Office Hours—From 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M.
